Mission:
Our mission is to strengthen our region through inclusive leadership, thoughtful funding, informed local giving, and collaborative action.

Vision:
We envision a community where everyone has the opportunity to live a full and rewarding life.

A Philanthropic Mindset

As I reflect on this past year, I am reminded of the timeless story of The Giving Tree, a story about generosity, growth, and the enduring impact of giving. At its heart, the story reminds us that when we invest in others with care and intention, we help create something far greater than ourselves: hope, opportunity, connection, and legacy.

There is a quote often attributed to Greek proverb wisdom that beautifully captures this spirit: "A society grows great when people plant trees whose shade they know they shall never sit in." That sentiment reflects the very heart of philanthropy and the enduring change we seek to cultivate together.

At Three Valleys Community Foundation, this belief guides everything we do.

Every act of generosity — whether it is a donor opening a fund, a volunteer offering their time, or a community member choosing to give where they live — is like planting a seed. Some seeds provide immediate nourishment and support. Others take root quietly over time, growing into something strong and lasting for future generations.

This is the spirit behind our mission to Give. Grant. Grow. We GIVE by inspiring philanthropy rooted in compassion, connection, and community. We GRANT by investing strategically in organizations, programs, and partnerships that address the most pressing needs and greatest opportunities across our region. And together, we GROW by building stronger nonprofit organizations, healthier communities, and a legacy of generosity that will continue to flourish long after today.

This year, we witnessed remarkable examples of what can happen when a community comes together with shared purpose. Through collaborative partnerships, donor generosity, volunteer leadership, and innovative grantmaking, seeds of possibility were transformed into meaningful impact and lasting change. Lives were touched. New opportunities emerged. Critical needs were addressed. Hope was strengthened.

Like a tree whose roots grow deeper with each passing season, our Foundation and its community continue to grow stronger through collective generosity and shared commitment. The work reflected in our Impact Report highlights not only what has been accomplished, but also what is possible when people choose to invest in one another.

As part of that enduring commitment, we are especially honored to recognize the generosity of our Sustainability Circle members and Legacy Circle donors, whose ongoing support helps ensure that Three Valleys Community Foundation will continue serving future generations. Their philanthropy reflects a belief that some of the most meaningful investments are those whose full impact may not be realized for years to come.

This same spirit is reflected throughout many of our Foundation's signature initiatives. It can be seen in our NextGen Philanthropy efforts, where young people are encouraged to develop a lifelong commitment to generosity and service. It lives through our Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Legacy Awards, which honor individuals whose leadership has strengthened our communities and inspired others. It is embodied in the David Yandell Living Legacy Service Scholarship, which invests in promising young leaders committed to making a difference in the lives of others. It can also be seen through community-driven efforts such as We Are Pleasanton, where neighbors come together to create lasting improvements that will benefit future generations.

We are deeply grateful to every donor, nonprofit partner, volunteer, advisor, sponsor, and community champion who has helped nurture this work. Your generosity is helping plant the seeds of a more connected, compassionate, and vibrant future.

Together, we are cultivating a legacy.

Thank you for continuing to Give. Grant. Grow. with us.

Building Community, Building Our Foundation

We are grateful to the community leaders, corporations, and government entities who joined our journey early on to launch Three Valleys Community Foundation (3VCF). Our Founding Champions are philanthropists who believe in the power and promise of our region and how we can give, grant, and grow our community together.

We celebrate our growing community of generous donors and Fundholders who steadfastly support 3VCF and our expanding vision. These Sustainability Circle members have played a pivotal role in our formative years, and through their ongoing contributions, are demonstrating their dedication to building upon the strong foundation they helped establish, as well as their commitment to supporting and sustaining our community impact.

Community Health Impact Grants

Three Valleys Community Foundation launched its third Community Health Impact Grant round, designed to empower local nonprofits working to address some of our region's most pressing health challenges. The grant program, made possible through the generous support of local donors and corporate sponsors, through 3VCF's Power of Collaboration Corporate Challenge, offers grants ranging in size from $5,000 to $20,000 for projects that address 3VCF's mission of promoting positive community health outcomes in our Three Valleys region.

Building on the momentum of our previous grant round, our 2026 Community Health Impact Grants focus on four critical areas:

Mental Health & Wellness

Aimed at addressing the continued need for mental health support in our Three Valleys region, this category seeks to strengthen mental health services, reduce stigma, and promote social-emotional skills and resilience.

Healthy Equity & Access

This area targets barriers to healthcare access, which are particularly profound for traditionally underserved groups, including persons of color, non-English speaking communities, seniors, people with disabilities, low-income households, unhoused and immigrant populations. Our goal is to support initiatives that meaningfully improve access and services for community members who face the greatest obstacles.

Economic Vitality & Stability (New for 2026!)

This area aims to support initiatives that promote economic opportunity, reduce financial strain, and build pathways to long-term stability—recognizing that economic security not only supports individual and family wellbeing, but also strengthens the overall health, resilience, and vibrancy of our region.

Environmental Health & Sustainability

Recognizing the intersectionality of environmental health and personal wellbeing, this category aims to boost environmental stewardship and improve both environmental and public health through education, outreach, and workforce development in the green sector.

Alameda County Opioid Innovative Mini-Grant Round 2 Recipients

3VCF expanded its fiscal management and grant administration partnership with Alameda County Behavioral Health Department (ACBHD), awarding over $2.3 million to ten organizations that provide individuals and communities with access to prevention, treatment, harm reduction, and recovery programs for opioid addiction.

Bay Area Community Health
To provide naloxone and overdose prevention education to directly reduce opioid-related deaths, especially in high-risk populations.

Building Opportunities for Self-Sufficiency (BOSS)
To address the opioid crisis in marginalized areas by distributing Naloxone and providing harm reduction training.

Carnales Unidos Reformando Adictos (C.U.R.A., Inc.)
To provide culturally affirming practices tailored for Latino men, including addressing language and cultural barriers, to make recovery support more accessible.

Castro Valley Unified School District (CVUSD)
To support CVUSD's Drug Abuse Stops Here (DASH) Program, which serves secondary students, particularly those experiencing academic or emotional challenges that may increase their risk of substance use, with substance abuse prevention activities and counseling.

LifeLong Medical Care
To support harm reduction by providing medical care to vulnerable populations dealing with substance abuse.

Livermore Lab Foundation
To invest in technology that supports a broader harm reduction strategy by helping identify fentanyl exposure, which could enhance response efforts to opioid overdoses.

Magnolia Women's Recovery Programs, Inc.
To reduce the stigma associated with opioid use treatment for pregnant and parenting women, a population often overlooked in recovery efforts, through a holistic approach.

Hayward South Alameda County Branch NAACP
To reduce opioid misuse, support diversion efforts, and provide access to treatment and recovery housing, while prioritizing prevention and treatment instead of jail, as well as workforce development to help individuals reintegrate.

National Coalition Against Prescription Drug Abuse (NCAPDA)
To expand NCAPDA's substance use prevention and harm reduction programs and establish an Alameda County Overdose Prevention Collaborative (ACOPC) to substantially increase outreach and impact, especially for the County's most at-risk populations.

Women of Color On The Move
To support mobile medication-assisted treatment (MAT) service delivery, including harm reduction tools such as fentanyl test strips and sterile syringes, with a focus on marginalized women.

Three Valleys Community Foundation is a 2026 California Nonprofit of the Year!

"Three Valleys Community Foundation represents the very best of what nonprofit leadership looks like – bringing people together, advancing local solutions, boosting other nonprofits, and improving the health and wellbeing of communities throughout the Tri-Valley."
– State Senator Jerry McNerney on selecting 3VCF as Nonprofit of the Year for Senate District 5

Honoring Those Who Give Back: 25th Annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Fellowship Breakfast and Awards

Celebrating its 25th anniversary, this year's Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Fellowship Breakfast & Awards, hosted by 3VCF, embraced the theme, "The Fierce Urgency of Now." The morning brought over 250 guests together to honor extraordinary leaders and emerging change-makers whose service, advocacy, and commitment continue to turn Dr. King's legacy into action. The Silver Anniversary Breakfast featured an inspiring keynote address from Faith Alpher, a New Jersey-born, nationally recognized motivational speaker, professional comedian, and author whose work echoes Dr. King's call for justice, dignity, and the power of every voice.

Honoring Legacy & Leadership Across the Region

For the first time, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Legacy Awards recognized changemakers from each of the communities that comprise our Three Valleys region. These awards celebrate individuals whose lifelong leadership and service exemplify Dr. King's ideals of justice, courage, and hope in action.

David Behring - Danville

As leader of the Blackhawk Museum and President of the Wheelchair Foundation, Behring expands access to art, mobility, and opportunity locally and globally while advancing civic pride through landmark initiatives such as the Veterans Memorial Building and All-Wars Memorial.

Michael Karami - Dublin

Karami strengthens community connection and mutual understanding by elevating marginalized voices and convening meaningful public dialogue — including Dublin's first "Community Conversations — fostering empathy, fairness, and inclusive civic participation.

Faith Alpher - Livermore

Through storytelling, performance, and transformative youth workshops locally and nationwide, Alpher empowers young people to find their voice, build resilience, and bridge cultural and social divides with courage, authenticity, and compassion.

Gary & Nancy Harrington - Pleasanton

Through transformative support of public art initiatives and long-standing investment in local service organizations and nonprofits, the Harringtons model humility, moral courage, and community-centered leadership that continues to inspire generosity and strengthen civic pride across the Tri-Valley.

Gary Alpert - San Ramon

Alpert's lifelong civic leadership spans education foundations, arts advocacy, and city planning initiatives, where his integrity, persistence, and practical problem-solving continue to strengthen community infrastructure and opportunity.

Jim O'Laughlin - Sunol

O'Laughlin advances rural community vitality through hands-on advocacy, volunteer engagement, and projects ranging from environmental restoration to historic preservation, delivering lasting improvements in infrastructure, public spaces, and civic engagement.

Gina Halow & Mindy Longo - Alamo

Halow and Longo mobilize more than 200 local families through giving circles to make bold, collective philanthropic investments — granting more than $886,000 in seven years while addressing complex issues such as domestic violence, early childhood trauma, homelessness, and foster care.

NextGen Philanthropy

2026 Young Philanthropist Award Finalists

In the summer of 2025, 3VCF launched its NextGen Fund, a new field-of-interest fund designed to support a broad-based and inclusive array of programs that benefit youth across the Tri-Valley and greater East Bay region. The NextGen Fund invests in a myriad of projects and initiatives — ranging from enrichment and wellness to leadership, arts, civic engagement, and youth-led philanthropy — while also recognizing youth who are making a difference in their communities through its Young Philanthropist Award.

The NextGen Fund considers youth-centric grant funding inquiries on a rolling basis, with reviews conducted quarterly or biannually, depending on available resources. Eligible programs must serve and engage youth and operate under a qualified 501(c)(3) nonprofit or fiscal sponsor.

Together, we can help the leaders of the future build a better tomorrow.

NextGen Young Philanthropist Award Honoree

Rabia Badar - Dublin

Rabia exemplifies the power of youth-driven leadership and compassion in action. Through her service, Rabia has raised more than $30,000 and led initiatives providing technology, food, and essential support to hundreds of families. Her initiative and vision have created a lasting ripple effect, demonstrating that age is never a barrier to meaningful leadership and local impact.
